2008 CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

NACOLE is a national association of oversight organizations and practitioners that seeks to enhance fair and professional law enforcement responsive to community needs. In an effort to continue this mission, NACOLE is excited to announce that it will be implementing a certification program for citizens, oversight professionals and law enforcement personnel.

In order to receive certification, conference attendees will be required to attend a minimum of three sessions designated as "Training Sessions." The following is a list of the Training Sessions available at the 2008 NACOLE Conference:

Essentials of Oversight

Auditing Complaint Investigations: A Practical Application

Successful Strategies for Combating Racial Profiling

Dealing With Dishonesty

Tasers: Beyond Yes or No

In addition, attendees wishing to complete certification will need to attend a minimum of two additional conference sessions of their choice.

Attendees with questions regarding the program or those wishing to participate in the certification program may contact NACOLE's Conference Coordinator, Cameron

	Smith, prior to the conference at smith@nacole.org or may call her directly at 317.697.0695. Onsite registration will also be available.
